Labour Day

Brother and Sisters, the Labour Day holiday was established by the labour movement to celebrate the economic achievements of workers. Labour Day now is more often associated with football games, festivals and the last summer weekend before school, than a heartfelt celebration of workers and their families. This Labour Day, IBEW asks you all to think of all those who have worked to make Canada one of the world's greatest nations. Our office wished workers and their families everywhere a very safe and happy Labour Day weekend.
